Republicans control most state legislatures

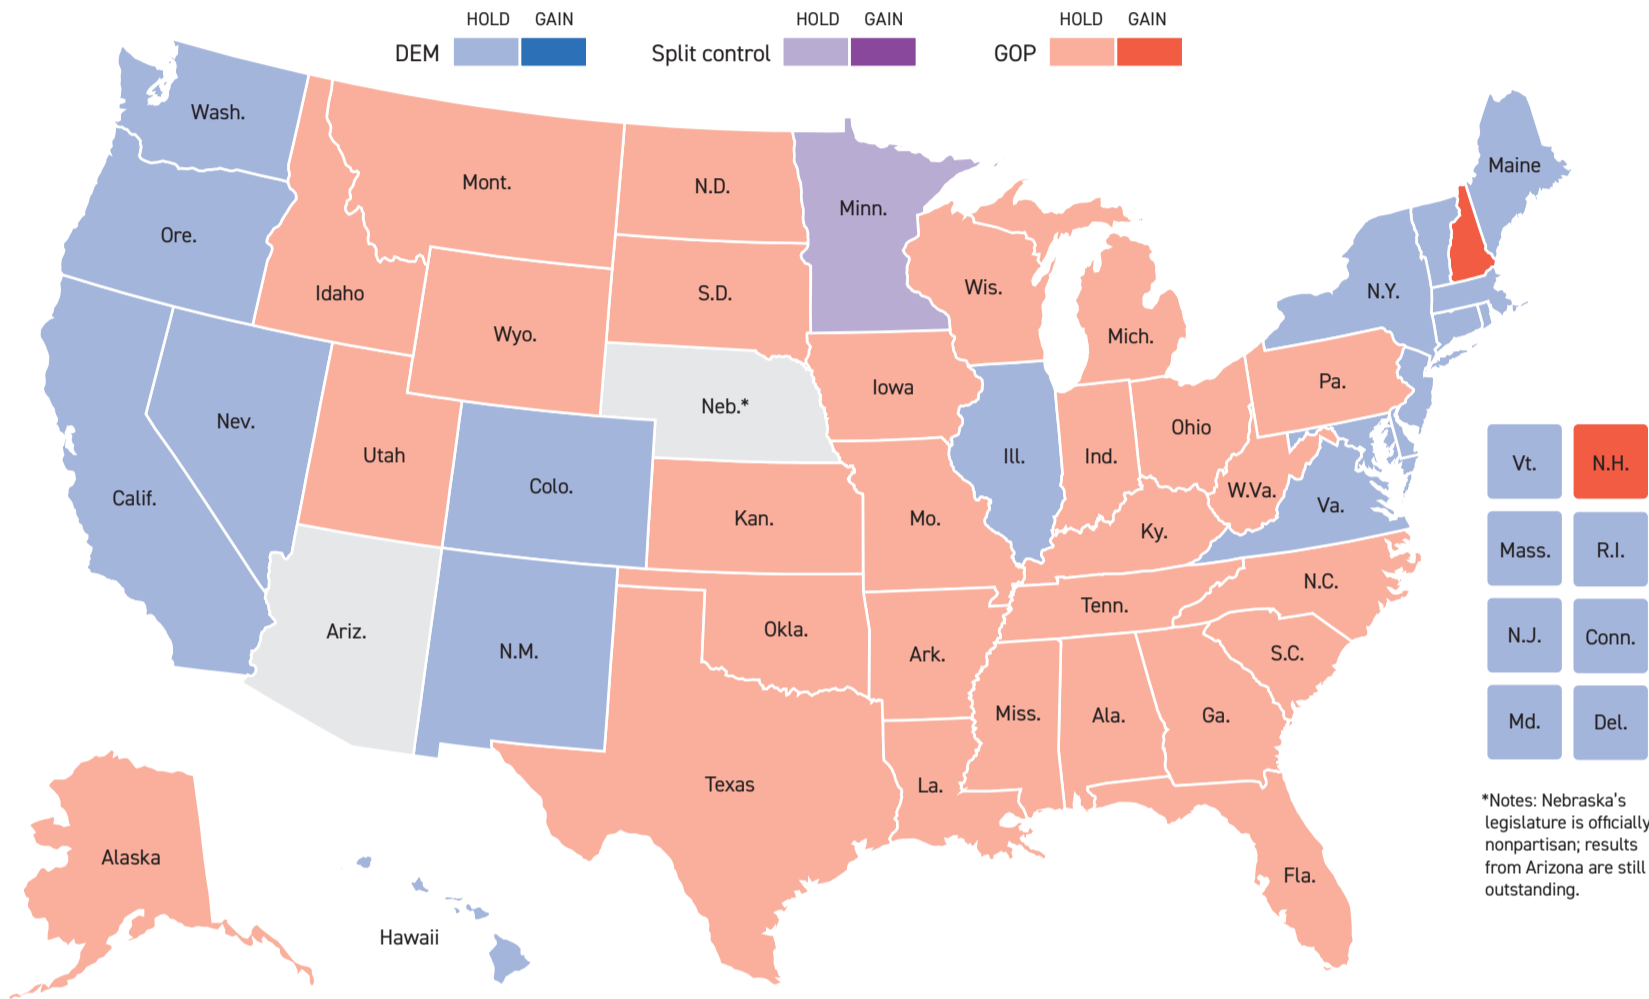

Results from most state legislature and governors' races are in, with results favoring Republicans. Control of the New Hampshire legislature flipped to the Republican Party, and Republican Greg Gianforte won the race for governor in Montana, replacing Democrat Steve Bullock. Republicans now control both the legislature and the governor's mansion in both states. Republicans now control the legislatures in at least 29 states, and control both the legislature and have a Republican governor in 22 states.
