

E. LUCY BRAUN AWARD

Amy Daum Rosemond

E. Lucy Braun was an eminent plant ecologist and the first woman president of the Ecological Society of America. Besides describing and mapping the deciduous forest regions of eastern North America, Lucy Braun served as a dedicated teacher and role model to her students. To honor her, this award is presented to a student for the outstanding poster presentation at the Society's annual meeting.

The 1991 winner of the award is Amy Daum Rosemond for her poster, "An autumnal shift from herbivory to detritivory in a woodland stream and the consequent effects on the algae," based on research done under Dr. Susan H. Brawley at the Environmental Science Division of Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Amy received her bachelor's degree and master's degree from the University of North Carolina–Chapel Hill, where she began her work in stream ecology. She is currently working toward her doctorate at Vanderbilt University.

Receiving an honorable mention citation is Brian S. Pedersen of Oregon State University for his poster “Intervention analysis of tree growth prior to death.”

1991 Student Awards Selection Committee:

Nancy M. Eyster-Smith, Chair

Thomas W. Boutton

Deborah Childs Hayes

Janet Lanza

John D. Madsen

Samuel M. Scheiner